

STATS 517

Literature Review

Paper: Text Mining for Market Prediction a Systematic Review(Vignesh)

Length of Paper:

Vignesh review of his paper was an honest browse, it absolutely was clear and telegraphic. The paper was acceptable length for ideas he coated.

Depth of Understanding:

It is clear from Vignesh's presentation that he is aware of the subject of Text Mining for Market Prediction a scientific Review. Vignesh's use of examples show that he understands methodology and application of text mining for market.

Completeness:

The review was complete, and touched on all of the main points of the paper. Vignesh did an excellent job of explaining the step by step methodologies of text mining, and additionally scrutiny the varied approaches. He mentioned machine procedures and combinable issues concerned. once totally explaining the strategy, Vignesh explains the metrics of success once assessing the accuracy of a model.

Difficulty:

The models bestowed within the paper appear to be sufficiently tough. They utilize several aspects of machine learning and text mining, and as Vignesh explicit , it's extremely technical in nature. Despite this, the review was a straightforward browse.

Comprehensive:

The paper was a comprehensive literature review. Vignesh created guaranteed to outline all important terms therefore the reader had a full understanding of the ways, in addition as provide world examples once acceptable. He showed a number of figures that complimented his points and created a comprehensive paper.

Clarity:

The paper was terribly clear. it absolutely was written to convey the reader a broad understanding of machine learning in text categorization, whereas not getting in confusing technical details. Any student, even while not a applied math or mathematic background, may browse this paper and go forth with a full understanding of the ways, issues, and implications of text categorization.